MORE PAVING ON WALNUT ST

PETITION IS FILED SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

COUNCIL TAKES ACTION

Petitioners Want Seven Inch Re-Inforced Concrete On Walnut Between Seventh and Wabash R. R.

More paving is wanted on Walnut street and will be constructed this year than the recent contract let by the council for Twelfth street south to the Wabash right-of-way, is evidenced by a petition filed at the city hall late Saturday afternoon and acted on by the city council the same evening.

A majority of resident property owners petitioned the council to order the construction of seven inch re-inforced concrete paving on this street from Seventh street north to the Wabash Railroad right-of-way. The petition, however, gave the understanding that a contract should not be let that would be above the estimate of the city engineer's figures, which accompanied the petition.

It was agreed by the petitioners that they would not sign a remonstrance in event that the council passed a resolution deeming necessary the paving of this portion of Walnut street in accordance with the provisions of the petition. Those who signed the petition were E. R. Pyles, Anna V. Beattie, Margaret W. Davison, Mrs. Janie Carmichael and Louis Anderson.

The estimate of the city engineer accompanying the petition carried the figures of concrete at $2.55; excavation 75 cents; rolling and finishing, 25 cents and curbing 60 cents. The cost per foot, based on paving the entire distance between Seventh and Ninth streets, shows a total cost of 12,000 square yards at $43,305; total cost per front foot, $4.86; and total front footage, 8,872 feet.

The city council introduced a resolution at its meeting Saturday night for paving on Walnut street between Seventh and the Wabash right-of-way for seven inch re-inforced concrete on a roadway twenty feet from curb to curb. Another resolution was also taken up by the council for paving of West Fifth street from Wabash right-of-way to center line of Mulberry street with seven inch re-inforced concrete.

Smoot Urges Big Tax Cut by Congress

Vermont Senator Also Advocates Abolition of "Nuisance" Fees Enacted During War Period.

Washington, Aug. 3.—A tax cut of 350 million dollars a year is now possible and should include the total abolition of "nuisance" taxes remaining over from the war period, it was asserted today by Senator Reed Smoot Republican of Vermont, chairman of the Senate finance committee, upon his return to Washington from the West.

Smoot said he believed Congress should remove next session existing taxes on theater tickets, automobile and accessory and taxes on club dues which were imposed as a war-time measure.

Smoot said he was opposed to making incomes of $5,000 and less exempt from paying any tax as has been proposed in many quarters. He said he would favor, however, keeping the taxes on small incomes at a minimum figure of perhaps 1 per cent.

Twenty per cent as the maximum surtax on larger incomes is the figure that Congress probably will come to at the end in Smoot's opinion. It is now 40 per cent.

Senator Smoot said he also favored the abolition of federal inheritance taxes as proposed by Andrew Mellon, Secretary of Treasury on the ground that this field of taxation should be left to the various states.

The governmental building program, entailing the expenditure of about fifty million dollars a year, will find favor in the new Congress, Smoot said. The government has done little building since the war and consequently the condition of many buildings is deplorable, he said.

Administrator Appointed.

William C. Pierce was today appointed administrator with will annexed of the estate of Nicholas Schumacher who died July 27, by Judge Jesse F. Robertson of the Probate Court.

Last Move on to Save Russell Scott

Two Corps of Alienists On Hand To Testify As To Sanity of Man Condemned To Die.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—A last move to save Russell Scott from the gallows for the murder of Joseph Maurer opened today before Judge Joseph David.

There were two corps of alienists to testify as to the sanity of the former millionaire. There were other witnesses summoned, particularly by the defense, to tell that they believe Scott insane. Several of them are from Detroit.

Selection of the jury was expected to be completed today with the testimony to begin tomorrow. Two days probably will be taken in examining witnesses.

BAN WAR BY PUBLIC UNITY

COMBINED PUBLIC OPINION ONLY WEAPON AGAINST IT.

COOPER IN AN APPEAL

Sincerity of Speaker Impresses Audience This Afternoon—Prelude Furnished By Hugh Orchard.

That the "Supreme Test of Civilization" is the outlawing of war by an aroused public opinion for peace was the theme of the lecture by the Rev. Joseph A. Cooper, former pastor of the Maryville Baptist Church, at the Chautauqua session this afternoon.

"The only way we will ever put an end to war is by a united public opinion against it," declared Mr. Cooper, almost at the outset of his lecture.

The former Maryville minister contends that no organization for peace can be effective unless the public itself is educated against war. After this educational process has borne fruit, then the organizations can do their work well, he said.

He began by giving the cost of war in money, lives, morality and the old list from start to finish. There was little that was new, save that Mr. Cooper had worked out some rather interesting means of making his figures significant. Then he pointed to the meager supply of benefit which can be said to have been a result of the war. And the third step was to hold up public opinion as the only possible means of stopping war. There was nothing new in it from start to finish, save that Mr. Cooper did recite some personal experiences which served to hold facts together in a manner appealing to his audience.

Mr. Cooper knows that people are tired of blood-smeared pictures of the last war and spent some time to show that the old cruelties that are laid at the door of the German soldiers are nothing more than propoganda which was used to incite the American people against the Germans. He knows that statistics are old. He knows that he can take one of many other subjects and win the applause which has been accorded other speakers on the programs. But he argues that the people soon forget. He knows that he has a great truth to speak and he knows that the way to "carry on a war to end war" is to drive home these disagreeable pictures until a response is compelled. Mr. Cooper's whole soul is wrapped up in the crusade against the God of War and his earnest appeal to the people meets with enthusiasm on the part of the audience.

The prelude to the afternoon program was given by Mr. Huge A. Orchard, platform manager. It consisted of numerous readings, interspersed with enough comedy to keep everybody in a cheerful mood.

A RAID NETS TWO GALLONS

GRANT KELLEY ARRESTED AS ALLEGED OWNER.

OFFICERS IN A CHASE

Whisky Is Found at Farm Where Marion Gilbert Lives, One Mile West Of the Salem Church.

Close to two gallons of what is suspected as corn whisky, was taken in a raid Saturday afternoon on the farm where Marion Gilbert lives, one mile west of the Salem Church, south of Maryville, and Grant Kelley, about 25 years of age, was arrested and is now awaiting charges to be filed as the alleged owner of the contraband. Also about a half pint of the liquor was found on his person by the officers.

George Pat Wright, prosecuting attorney, said that charge of unlawful possession will be filed against Kelley and possibly charge of illegal transportation of intoxicating liquor will be brought against the prisoner.

Four county officers, Sheriff L. B. Campbell and deputies John Rasco, Gus Romasser and Lloyd Heifner, acting under the power of a search warrant, Saturday afternoon raided the Gilbert place, where Kelley has been staying. Here they found a small amount of what is alleged to be corn-whisky in the house, and investigation revealed about a gallon and a half of the liquor a quarter of a mile from the house hid in some bushes.

Kelley, who had been to Maryville that afternoon, drove up to the Gilbert farm at the time the officers were there. Seeing the officials, he deposited the passengers he had with him and made an attempt to get away. The officers made chase and upon seizure a small amount of the liquor was found on his person.

POLICE FINES ARE MOUNTING

EIGHTEEN ARRESTED IN CITY DURING JULY.

COUNCIL MEETS SAT.

Introduces Two Paving Resolutions and Ordinance—Will Meet Tonight in Special Session.

The activities of the city police officers last month showed a big increase in the number of arrests over any month this year, according to the police court report which was made by Judge Warren L. Johnson to the city council that met in regular session Saturday night.

Judge Johnson's report to the city council shows that eighteen arrests were made during July, the fines from which totaled $105, three of the fines amounting to $10 each and fifteen paying the usual sum of $5. Costs varied from $5.65 to a dollar more. The chief offense against the city ordinances was exceeding the speed limit. Thirteen out of the eighteen were accosted and fined for this violation. Three were fined for unlawful operation of automobiles, one for careless operation of a motor vehicle and one for failure to pay dog tax. In one case the fine was remitted by the mayor.

The collector's report for July showed collections totaled $77.83 and Claud Stults reported $7 from the city scales and $3 from the city wash rack.

The report of Mayor W. O. Garrett of the finances for July, which was read Saturday night at the regular meeting, shows $27,225.35 in the water department; $2,833.87 in street fund; $3,152.83 in the library fund; $13,470.70 in the general fund; $4,272.58 in the first water bond principal fund; $1,861.19 in the first water bond interest fund; $251 in the street workers' guarantee fund; $3,882.81 in the street lighting fund; $630.03 in the second water bond principal fund; $1,704.23 in the second water bond interest fund and $24.08 of petty cash; a total of $59,308.67. Out of these funds the bills for the month of July are to be paid.

According to the report of Miss Grace Langan, librarian of the Maryville Public Library, there were 2,390 books and magazines lent during the month of July, of which 776 were juvenile books, 1,506 of general nature and 108 magazines, making an average of ninety-two a day. Thirty-six reader cards were issued. In the reading rooms of the library 829 used the periodical room, 143 the children's room and 470 the reference room with sixty-nine Sunday readers, an average of fifty a day. Collections amounted to $22.49.

An ordinance was passed letting the contracts for paving of Fillmore street from Second to Fourth streets with seven inch reinforced concrete and on Walnut street from the south line of Wabash right-of-way to Twenfth street with two and a half in fiber brick on a four inch concrete base to the Cook & O'Brien Construction Co.

The council adjourned until tonight when it will consider more fully the proposition of acquiring more land for Oak Hill cemetery.

SHOWS SCENES OF THE EAST

FOURTH DAY CHAUTAUQUA GOOD ON THE AVERAGE.

8 p. m. Concert by Lone Star Military Band.

The fourth day of Chautauqua was not the best which the week had offered. But without being the best, it could still be good. And averaging up preludes, lectures and travelogue, there is no ground for dissatisfaction. In the evening, Edward B. MacDowell furnished a combination of education and entertainment which again exemplifies the diversity of the week's program this year. He took with him a company of several hundred Maryvillians across the Atlantic to Egypt. Up the ancient Nile the party went and back again to the Valley of the Tombs. Here a look was taken at the final resting place of King Tut-Ankh-A-men, while Mr. MacDowell discussed interestingly the history of the early rules and of the discovery of the tomb. A rapid trip was made through the Holyland and continued on into Egypt. Here points of interest were seen. The leader of the party explained customs and pointed out illustrations. For a brief moment the travelers went north into Tibet. Thence the journey was continued to Japan. And from the beautiful islands, across the Pacific and home.

Mr. MacDowell is an interesting talker. He is an artist. What is most important, he is obviously interested in the subject matter and pictures with which he presents he illustrated travelogue. He has spent years of seeing the world. The general interest of his lecture is enhanced by the personal touches which he draws from his experiences.

"Joy Makers" Are Popular.

The Tobias-Harper Company, two in number, provided the most satisfactory preludes which the four days of the program have brought to the city. They were advertised as "clever joy makers." That is what they are. With a light program of music and comedy, they accomplished their designated purpose. They are a versatile pair. They can do many things. One they do remarkably well. That is entertain. They furnished the prelude to both programs of the day. They were warmly applauded on both occasions.

Gives a Good Sermon.

The afternoon lecture was a good sermon. There was nothing dynamic, nothing disquieting or energetic about it. Mr. Hagerman left his hearers with a not uncomfortable realization that he had spoken some great truths; that an open, four-sided outlook upon life and influencing factors in life, is conducive of more sympathetic appreciation of the other fellow and a more intelligent conduct of existence. It was a pleasing afternoon for two perhaps among other reasons. It was pleasing because people like to hear another speak what they believe and because Mr. Hagerman is a charming gentleman on the platform. He impressed as being a criterion of the truth of his own philosophy. He stated that he was insistant upon, "keeping both feet upon the ground," while he talked. And this he did. He began quietly, continued quietly and ended quietly. His own quiet seemed to pervade the atmosphere and quiet his audience. Once or twice a remark forceful in truth, not in voice or rhetorical power, inspired spontaneous applause. But the atmosphere of the hour, as a whole, was that of Sunday morning in a refined church. His subject was, "The Man With One Window."

H. A. MILLER IN LAST BEQUEST

STUDENTS MEET TO PAY HIM TRIBUTE.

RECEIVES MANY GIFTS

He Has Taught Bible Class at First M. E. Church for Last Thirteen Years.

Harry A. Miller, head of the department of reading and public speaking at the State Teachers College and teacher of the College Bible Class of the First M. E. Church, gave his last address to the Bible Class yesterday morning before leaving for Anderson, Mo., where he will spend the next year. Mr. Miller has been granted a year's leave of absence by the State Teachers College and is expecting to go to Anderson about the middle of August where he will work on his fruit farm and also prepare several books for publication.

Mr. Miller has been teacher of the College Bible Class at the First M. E. Church Sunday School for the last thirteen years of the fourteen years he has been with the College.

The members of the College Bible Class of the Christian Church, Dr. Fred Keller, teacher, marched in a body to the Methodist Church to join with the students of Mr. Miller's class in wishing him farewell. It is the first time in the history of these two classes that they have met together.

Dr. Keller, teacher of the visiting class, gave a few words of praise for Mr. Miller. He said: "Everyone in this town has a high regard for Mr. Miller. No one has come into his classes but what has gone out with a higher ideal of Christianity. I am richer for having met Mr. Miller.

"There is no man I have ever associated with that I have a higher regard than for Mr. Miller. I have never heard that he taught anything but what was good to know."

Besides the 207 members of his own class and the members of the Keller class, Mr. Miller's address was heard by a number of the other Sunday School classes of the Frst M. E. Church who dispensed with their regular meeting in order to hear him.

Mr. Miller spoke on "The Power of Personality" and took as his theme the Biblical passage which relates of Elisha's request of the departing Elijah for a token of remembrance. One power of personality was declared to be the quality of simplicity, the simple handshake and the sympathy to sit down with another and discuss their mutual problems. Alertness of perception was believed by Mr. Miller to be another quality of powerful personality.

In closing, Mr. Miller made the following in the nature of a bequest:

I being of sound mind do hereby bequeath to the persons or things herein named, these legacies. It is my desire and last urgent request that these legacies be used to the best advantage, and that they be given in turn by the legatee to others upon his departure from the walks of men. This is my last will and testament. I urge that these bequests be promptly bestowed in the following manner to wit:

1. That my unmanly attributes be gathered together and buried in the field of forgetfulness.

2. That every mean thought I have ever had up to the moment of my demise, be drowned in the pool of the Eternal Void.

3. That every unworthy act I have ever committed be swallowed up in the grave.

4. That every mean word I have ever uttered that has given grief or

DELVES INTO 1926 SITUATION

COOLIDGE HEARS REPORT FROM MIDDLE WEST.

WISCONSIN IN DOUBT

"Young Bob" Probably Best Bet There—What Will Brookhart Do To Nominee in Iowa?

Swampscott, Mass., Aug. 3.—In line with the administration's policy to unloosen its heavy artillery in an effort to win the coming Congressional elections, President Coolidge today delved into the political situation in the states just west of the Mississippi River.

John Adams of Iowa, former chairman of the Republican national committee, was the man who brought to the summer White House here a report of conditions in the Middle West. He advised Mr. Coolidge how the impending Senatorial fights were shaping up in his section of the country. He and Mrs. Adams are to be overnight house guests of President and Mrs. Coolidge.

It is in the region represented by Adams that the President expects the hardest fight. Particular attention will be paid to the winning of Wisconsin, Iowa, North and South Dakota. These states are the center of the insurgent Republican strength that was fostered under the leadership of the late Senator Robert M. La Follette.

In Wisconsin, present indications points to "Young Bob" La Follette as the likely candidate to fill his father's place. Presidential advisors look upon Francis McGovern, former governor, as the probable candidate to carry the administration's standard. The situation there is further complicated, according to reports reaching here, by the proposal of a Ku Klux Klan candidate and another candidate representing the wets.

In Adams' own state, Iowa, Senator Albert Cummins will stand for re-election. While it is expected he will get the Republican nomination, those close to the President are watching the movement of the Brookhart element. In 1924 the administration Republicans gave their support to the Democratic candidate running against Brookhart and almost defeated him. They are now wondering if the Brookhart forces in turn will throw their support next year to a progressive Democrat.

In North Dakota, the vacancy created by the death of Senator Ladd must be filled. Governor Sorlie has not yet determined definitely whether he must call a special election or whether he has the power of appointment. It is thought here, however, that a special election must be called. In any event, a contest in this state will have to be made again in 1926.

In South Dakota, Senator Norbeck will run for re-election. Norbeck is still recognized as a "regular" Republican although his vote against the confirmation of Charles B. Warren as attorney-general aroused the ire of many administration leaders.

Regents Board to Meet Tomorrow

B. G. Vorhees of St. Joseph and T. D. Parr of Hamilton arrived today to attend a meeting of the board of regents of the State Teachers College to be held tomorrow. Both men are members of the board. At this meeting the new gymnasium building will be formally accepted and other routine matters will come up.

Return From Wyoming.

Miss Byrd Briggs returned Saturday evening from a several weeks' visit at Laramie, Wyo., and Colorado Springs. She was accompanied home by her sister, Miss Della Briggs, who has been attending the Wyoming University at aLramie for the last year. She will teach in the commercial department of the Beaumont, Texas, schools the coming year.

Frank Schumacher, who is convalescing from an extended illness, was able to walk down town today for the first time.

liberality of our outlook upon life and factors influencing life. The man with but one window through which to look upon the world, judges that world by what he can see. He knows nothing more. To him, what he sees is the world. The other three directions are lost to him. There is need of many dows. For there are windows of a dows. For there are winodws of a dangerous nature. The window of opinion is one. Thinking of the paramount faculty of man. It is in this regard that he differs most markedly from beasts. And the window of opinion dwarfs thinking. It requires will to create an appetite for additional windows, when one has been looking through his own opinions. It is difficult to want to read the magazine wherein opinions differ from one's own. It is difficult to listen to the lecture which is directly in confliet with one's beliefs. "We reach conclusions from the angle of our opinion," Mr. Hagerman said, "and then blame the other fellow for his narrow ideas."

Favors Fewer Denominations.

There is a crying need for window building in the walls of the Protestant church, Mr. Hagerman believes. There is too much "one-window denominationalism," in America today. He spoke of the recent merger of Protestant faiths in Canada. "Can we in America ever accomplish that?" he asked. And answering his own question he said, "We can. And I'll tell you when. It will be when you join my church." He further argued that there is a one-window out-look upon religion itself, in many cases. There is a window which sees religion as a guarantee for the Hereafter and nothing more. "I was a man grown before I ever had an appeal made to me to become a Christian, on any other basis than dying," he said.

He advised the building of a window of appreciation. "The trouble with many of us is that we are always looking but don't see anything." Through a well-constructed window of appreciation, the value, the efforts, the good intents, the accomplishments, in brief, the whole of the good in the other fellow can be seen. There is need of such in the home particularly, he said.

If the Chautauqua program were prematurely closed and the big tent had been packed and shipped this morning, those who have purchased season tickets would, of course, have grounds for complaint. But none of those who attended the comedy in the canvas theater Saturday night could justly base such complaint upon the grounds that the first three days of the week's program had not provided him with his money's worth. The performance of "Strange Bedfellows" alone would have done that. It is a delightful little comedy, perhaps farce comedy. And it was well played by the Keighley actors. The company has won a place in Maryville before now. But it is not conjecture to state that the Keighley players have never more thoroughly pleased a greater number here than they did last night. The tent housed a record audience and an audience keenly interested from start to finish.

Play Is Best Entertainment.

It is for no one to say that the performance is the best number which has been offered from the platform this summer. Some prefer lectures to music; others prefer music to plays. But if some means of comparatively judging intensity of interest, pleasure derived and numbers pleased, could be hit upon, probably the presentation of "Strange Bedfellows" would win. It might be of interest to add here that William Keighley, husband of the woman who took the leading role Saturday night, will be here in "Adam and Eva," Wednesday in the closing number of the week.

If one star in the cast of seven outshown another, it was only because of relative importance of roles. It was a cast well balanced and well suited to individual parts.

The program of the third day included two extremes of Chautauqua purpose. The evening offering represented the height of entertainment, that of the afternoon, the extreme of strictly informative and purely educational numbers.

Nodaway County Gets Share of Honors

Three Former Residents And Kansas Man Who Have Been Successful Politics Meet.

(St. Joseph News-Press)

Three Nodaway County former residents and a former Kansas, all of whom have achieved success in public life away from home, met this morning in the office of George C. Toel, manager of the Morris Plan Company.

They are Judge Merrill E. Otis of the federal court, Forrest W. Hanna, prosecuting attorney of Jackson County, and Congressman Charles L. Faust, a native of Doniphan County, Kan.,

Hanna, who is a nephew of Toel, is not, however, the first Nodaway County man to be prosecuting attorney of Jackson County. H. L. Jost of Kansas City also has served as prosecuting attorney there and Nodaway County was his home. Toel, formerly of Maryville, has held city and federal offices here.

"It seems that Nodaway County is to Missouri what Maine is to the United States, so far as the Republicans are concerned," said Toel. "A number of Nodaway County Republicans are now holding public offices in various parts of Missouri."

Cupid Falls Down on His Job During the Last Month

Young Dan Cupid failed miserably last month in this county, falling down on his job to such a degree that his services were just about nil, compared to some other months, if the records from the Recorder's office can be taken as a guide.

Only five marriage licenses were issued during the month just past, whereas the month before he worked up to the usual standards and enticed twenty-three couples to come into Mrs. Mamie Clardy for that license which is declared by the state to be worth a dollar and a half.

However, he can not be criticised too sharply and may, perhaps, was just on a vacation, as on the first day of August he roped in four unsuspecting couples.

So far this year there have been 115 marriage licenses by the Nodaway County Recorder. They are divided as follows according to months: January 14, February 21, March 18, April 17, May 17, June 23, July 5, and four so far in August.

Licenses were granted to the following last Saturday:

Paul W. Gregory of Clearmont and Thelma Elizabeth Ashford, Maryville; Walter G. Howard of Skidmore and Minnie M. Logan, Quitman; James A. Boone and Jennie Endsby, Clarinda; and Jasper D. Adams of Garden City, Kan., and Freda Gertrude Peoples of Skidmore.

ABOUT 350 AT HOMECOMING

FRIENDS OF PAST AND PRESENT AT PICKERING CHURCH

199 AT BIBLE SCHOOL

The Rev. F. E. Blanchard of Courtland, Kan., Present and Delivers Afternoon Sermon

About 350 persons "came home" to the Pickering Christian Church yesterday.

It was the annual homecoming day and friends and neighbors of the past and present joined hands once more and recounted experiences of the days gone by.

Exactly 199 persons were present at the Sunday school yesterday. This was the same number present at the homecoming day last year.

The Bible school session was followed by a sermon on "The Religion of the Threshold" by the Rev. T. M. Walton, the pastor of the church there.

The principal guest of the day was the Rev. F. E. Blanchard of Courtland, Kan., who was pastor of the Pickering church more than twenty years ago. Many persons were in the audience whom he had either baptized or united in marriage. The Rev. J. T. Alsup of Maryville was also in the audience. He preached at the Pickering church about seven years ago.

The afternoon program consisted of congregational singing, devotion led by the Reverend Mr. Alsup, a history of the church written by Mrs. C. R. Harmon and read by W. B. Porter, and a sermon by the Reverend Mr. Blanchard.

The following persons living outside of Pickering were present at the services at the Christian Church there yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Killam, Charles Florea and family, Miss Alice Whitman, Trueman Young and family, all of Gaynor;

Mrs. Roy Curry, Parnell; William Maxwell and family and W. H. Harris and family, all of St. Joseph.

William Bosch and family, Stanberry; O. A. Lincoln and family, Auburn, Neb., the Rev. and Mrs. F. E. Blanchard and daughter, Miss Landis, of Courtland, Kan., Roy Van Buren, marine aviator, Great Lakes, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Len Wilson, Ridgeway; Mrs. Mary House, Barnard; W. P. EDITOR'S NOTE:—The Democrat Forum and Tribune would be glad to receive accounts of church homecomings throughout Nodaway County together with the names of the persons from outside the communities attending.

The Rev. and Mrs. T. M. Walton and family of Pickering left this morning for Nashua, Ia., where they will spend two weeks at the home of Mrs. Walton's parents.

LABOR QUITS THIRD PARTY

NO MORE TIE-UPS WITH FACTIONS.

REVERSES PROGRAM

Support Hereafter Will Go to Individuals, Not Parties, Executive Council of A. F. of L. Announces.

Washington, Aug. 3.—The last nail was driven into the third party today by the final decision of the American Federation of Labor to cut loose from the LaFollette organization and return to its traditional non-partisan position in Congressional and national elections.

Its decision now to renounce its allegiance to a single political party and resume "boring" from within both old parties marks the last step in the nation's return to political normalcy.

Washington, Aug. 3.—The American Federation of Labor, which backed the La Follette presidential campaign last year, announced yesterday through its executive council that it would discontinue supporting third party movements and would revert to the custom of entering congressional and other political contests in support of individual candidates satisfactory to the unions.

The council's decision recited a general resolution adopted by the federation's national convention at El Paso last year, which laid down the principle that organized labor must be "as free from political party domination now as at any time in its history."

No Aid to New Parties.

The convention's dictum was carried further by the council declaration that "no aid or comfort will be given those who seek to launch third party movements," and by a decision to have prepared for the national convention at Atlantic City, October 5, a set of reports dealing with local state and national political contests. These are to carry tentative indorsements for candidates friendly to labor, regardless of their party affiliation.

In behalf of such candidates, particularly those in the congressional field, the council promises to wage a "strenuous nonpartisan political campaign." State federation of labor and central labor bodies everywhere will be summoned to assist, as in previous years, it said, while its usual condemnation of "bosses" and support of the primary system for nominating candidates again was made evident.

Mentions Events of 1924.

The statement mentioned the events of 1924, when the council indorsed the La Follette forces, but said that "since the non-partisan political policy has been followed, many independent or third party movements have come and gone, generally existing only for one election."

"The people generally are beginning to realize that hide-bound partyism does not benefit them," it asserted. "All too frequently, they have learned that pledges in party platforms were not always respected, but were used simply as a stepping stone to office."

An active campaign to interest woman wage earners and their sympathizers it also was announced, will be carried on in the primary and election campaigns.

Denver Police Are Searching for Slayer

Lone Bandit Kills Three Occupants of Automobile Near Fort Logan And Wounds Another.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 3.—Police were scouring the city and mountains near Denver for a lone bandit who shot and killed three persons and wounded another early today in a sensational hold-up.

Two men and two women were driving near Fort Logan when a bandit jumped on the running board of their car and at the point of a gun demanded that they drive down a lonely lane. Jerking open a door of the car, the bandit demanded their cash. On being told they had none, the bandit drew another revolver and began firing. Miss Marie McCormick, fell, instantly killed. Mrs. Julia Stearns, sister of Miss McCormick, fell mortally wounded, and Fred Funker, a youth of 19, died on the way to the hospital.

Carl Perry, the other member of the party, with a bullet hole in his arm staggered to a nearby farm house and summoned aid.

Mrs. Dona Meek went to Kansas City yesterday where she will spend several days in the wholesale millinery house. Upon her return she will resume her work in the millinery department of the Yehle Dry Goods store.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wyatt and children and Miss Dollie Thompson of Arkoe spent Saturday in St. Joseph.

More Danger in China For Foreigner Now Than Any Time Since Boxer Days

Unpleasantness Due to Many Conditions Which Are Liable to Endure for Some Time, According to General Belief.

Vernon Nash, author of this article on China, is a former Kansas City boy, being for many years publicity secretary for the Y. M. C. A. of that city. He now is head of the first journalism school in China in Pekin.

Mr. Nash is well known in Maryville, being a brother of Mrs. Virgil Rathbun of this city, and formerly city editor of the Democrat-Forum.

By VERNON NASH
(Special Correspondent for the Kansas City Journal-Post.)

That we are in the midst of the most serious situation for foreigners in China since Boxer days, few doubt. Not that there is any present prospect of a general menace to the lives of foreigners, but it seems inevitable in the light of recent developments that our conditions of living for a period of time may be unpleasant and in some cases quite difficult. As to why we have arrived at this unhappy juncture, the utmost divergence of opinion obtains. Certainly all those best acquainted with Chinese life agree that the recent unfortunate incident at Shanghai in which a group of students were killed by foreign police is only the occasion and not the cause of the present outburst of national feeling.

For a great many years after the entrance of Commodore Perry into Japan, treaties were in force between that country and western nations by which nationals of the latter enjoyed the privilege and benefits of extra territoriality.

All citizens of foreign lands had the same independence of Japanese law which the diplomats of another land always have in every country. It is common for western authorities to say that these rights were "relinquished" by the powers when the Japanese judicial system was westernized and became trustworthy.

But a rather vocal group of Chinese leaders are insisting that extra-territoriality was given up in Japan only when the military strength of the Japanese had become great enough for them to have courage to say in effect: "You cancel and revise these unequal treaties, or we'll kick you out." These Chinese ask with some perspicacity whether the foreigners' experience in Japanese law courts even now is such as to make them willing to yield their immunity if the potential and threatened use of force had not been added to the diplomacy and persuasion.

Unpleasant for Foreigners.

Here enters into the Chinese situation one of those curious paradoxes which make life baffling. The chaotic state of government in China makes it perilous or at best very unpleasant for foreigners to have to submit themselves and their fortunes to the Chinese courts. This very same weakness vitiates any demand by a Chinese government for the revision or cancellation of unequal treaties. The consciousness of this absence of any dependable government does not, however, salve the irritation and resentment of a newly-born public opinion in China. The sense of humiliation serves rather to aggravate the soreness.

The use of military force seems out of the question although China has more men under arms than any other nation in the world. That is apparent unless the dozen or more military chieftains among whom the nominal government is divided should miraculously be united by a desire to oust the foreigner. It is probable that they dislike and distrust one another more.

The mass of the Chinese people are homogeneous, however, and they have great temperamental capacities for the wide and prolonged use of a far more effective weapon than military force, the economic boycott. If it be true, as certain American statesmen have suggested, that foreign powers must give up extra-territoriality or unite in armed intervention to uphold it, then they will be well advised, in my opinion, to give up their special privileges. In the present mood of the Chinese people, the bringing in of armies would simply result in transforming a partial boycott of foreign products into a 100 per cent buyers' strike.

Can't Get Hard Boiled

Since commercial intercourse—the sale of our products—is the largest material stake of western nations in China, it is obvious that to get hard boiled with customers is but to emulate the bear which sought to avenge himself upon the red-hot kettle by hugging its searing scalding surface the more tightly to his breast. Traditions die hard and slowly; western business men and diplomats in general seem tragically blind to the fact that the growth of literacy and education in China has created a national public opinion for the first time in its history.

Consequently the country and its people can no longer be dealt with in ways and with methods which got by all right only a few years ago. This blindness is the more amazing in view of the startling directness and effectiveness of the Chinese boycott on Japanese goods which followed the announcement of the Shantung decision at Versailles. This buying strike, so devastating to the economic life of Japan as to cause her to cede a great rich province back to its rightful owners without the firing of a gun, should have taught other nationals in China some wisdom. If it did, they seem to have forgotten the lesson.

It will help Americans to understand Chinese feeling on the question of the unequal treaties, if we will look at the reverse side of the picture. That our American judicial processes are decidedly inferior to the operation of British courts is best known and recognized by our own legal profession itself. Yet who can adequately delineate the hot resentment with which the mass of Americans would repudiate the suggestion that British citizens resident in America or on tour should be given the right to carry all criminal or civil suits in which they become involved into specially established British courts in several large American cities? The two situations are far from being identical since China has only the semblance of responsible government, but the analogy seems fair to the Chinese.

No Hope of Easy Answer.

Their natural sense of humiliation is not relieved any by the consciousness that all these inequalities were exacted (often extorted) by the powers at the point of a bayonet without any suggestion of a quid pro quo. Extra territoriality was not a privilege voluntarily granted by China "for benefits received." It is generally admitted that the policy of western nations since the Washington conference has been much more altruistic and limited in effectiveness chiefly by the impotence of the paper governments with which they have had to deal in China. Unfortunately the long previous record of sordid and greedy partitioning of China and her resources by these powers has made it extraordinarily difficult for the Chinese as a whole to have sufficient confidence in the persistent good faith of foreign governments. Moreover, these western nations have not been eminently successful in the control of their nationals (Japan even less so); as a result industrial and commercial exploitation has gone on apace in certain strategic areas.

One can but echo with approval the suggestion of the British foreign secretary, Mr. Chamberlain, that the whole problem is one of such baffling complexity as to preclude any hope of a quick or easy solution. The most that one American can do is to hope and pray that his nation at least will validate its own Christian words of good will with such deeds as will strengthen and renew the unique friendliness which the Chinese have always felt for Americans since the days of our unselfishness and sympathy during the bitter period of the Boxer settlement.

Poland Refugees Are on Prussian Border

Epidemic Breaks Out and Conditions Are Marked as Frightful—Miners Are Out of Work.

By Frederick Kuh.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

Berlin, Aug. 3.—Bringing with them their "hab und gut"—their earthly possessions even down to the pigs—the German refugees expelled from Poland because they voted for Germany in the 1920 Upper Silesian Plebescite have established a camp at Schneidemuehl on the border of Prussia.

This camp had grown today to 5,000 humans.

Many of the women, coming out of the land which had been home for many years, brought with them children. A great mass of belongings, furniture, beds and agricultural machinery was piled up as mute testimony that the refugees were learning forever.

And the trek of the refugees continues while 2,000 to 3,000 Poles have fled to Poland, some of them skilled workers and miners of the Silesian region, others from the Ruhr.

The concentration camp at Schneidemuehl is pictured as marked by frightful conditions. The refugees are sleeping on barren floors, not even covered with straw.

Adding to the tragedy, a dysentery epidemic has broken out and has claimed three victims in the past few days.

And while death stalked through the camp, another visitor brought into the world twenty babies amidst indescribable squalor. These babies will have German citizenship—the nationality for which the refugees voted in 1920 when under the Versailles treaty, a portion of rich Upper Silesia with its tri-city industrial district, was voted to Poland, which many, many years ago had held the region.

The plight of the Polish refugees from Germany is reported to be better than that of the Germans, for many of the Poles are of the skilled class, while the campers of Schneidemuehl are small farmers or laborers. The Poles, it was said, will have little or no difficulty in finding employment. But the 5,000 from the other side are facing a difficult situation, with many of them appealing to Prussian landlords that they be used to harvest their grains.

For miners it was felt the situation would be particularly difficult since the mines of Germany are experieneing a slack season with the government proposing subventions to keep them going.

Thrift builds for to-morrow

As Ye Sow

A few years ago it was the fashion to malign big business; and to attribute to successful enterprise the responsibility for all the economic ills that beset the nation. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believing that this attitude was brought about by a lack of understanding determined to open its doors, and through the public press tell the simple story of its practices, its policies and the ideals animating the Management. The results have been more than gratifying. Prejudice gave place to goodwill through the light of better understanding.

Even in the old days of misunderstanding, there were always two groups of people who never maligned the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)—its employes and its customers. Those who knew the Company best liked it most.

In employing the public press as the most efficient vehicle for carrying "the light of better understanding" to the thirty million people of the Middle West, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been thrown into constant business contact with the publishers of newspapers, large and small, in the city and in the country. In its relations with newspapers, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has followed the same policy it pursues in dealing with its employes, customers, stockholders, and competitors; fairness and justice to all.

That the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), by its fair and square dealings, has added another group to its constantly increasing host of friends is evidenced by the following excerpt from a letter, written, under date of June 17, 1925, by Mr. A. F. Ender, Editor of the Rice Lake Chronotype, Rice Lake, Wisconsin:

> "Never have we dealt with a firm more square nor more business-like than the Standard Oil people. As their name indicates, they have standards to which they adhere."

It is by adhering to its well-established standards of integrity in manufacturing, in selling and in distributing petroleum products, that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has come to be one of America's foremost institutions—in size, in scope and in service.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Grain futures under leadership of wheat made good gains in today's session of the Board of Trade. Late profit taking dropped prices from the day's high point.

Spirited commission house buying, short covering and lack of pressure made for the sharply higher wheat close. Sentiment was decidedly bullish, based on unfavorable private crop figures.

Corn borrowed most of its strength from the leading cereal.

Lack of features made the oats market a narrow affair. Most grains were made in sympathy with other grains.

Provisions dropped off in belated liquidation by commission houses.

H. A. Miller in Last Bequest

pain or sorrow or anxiety to any human being, be flung into the crypt of darkness.

Be it further bequested—

1. To those especially near to me, I do bequeath my love as an everlasting substance to be used freely; daily, hourly it may be, for the renewed of those earthly blisses which in our highest moments characterized the passing years when we were together.

2. To my friends, I do bequeath happy memories, that bring smiles to the lips and roses to the cheeks.

3. To others I do bequeath tender solicitude and kindly ministrations.

4. To the world. I do bequeath

(1.) Noble aspirations which I have had from time to time.

(2). The spirit of optimism which has often led me out of the darkness and the gloom of many a sad day.

(3). The spirit of self-sacrifice which I have had, alas, too rarely.

(4). The moments of joy and hope I have experienced in the success of my ambitions.

(5). The beautiful mental imaginings I have had which were splendid but unexpressed.

(6.) Blessed reminiscence that occasionally filled my soul with pleasantness.

(5). I bequeath to earth and atmosphere, and sky myself to be transformed into their substance, hoping that from this substance beautiful flowers may spring; that from the various elements of my substance, rainbow gleams may be a little brighter and the blue sky a little bluer and the splendor of stars more splendid.

6. I bequeath all that my soul has ever dreamed or has ever felt, to that part of humanity that can see, feel, and hear.

7. I bequeath all that has ever contributed to my goodness, little as that goodness may have been to all who may benefit thereby.

8. I bequeath all that has been bad and blighting, low, mean, little or stooping, and trifling and condescending to the shades of oblivation never to be remembered again.

9. Finally, I bequeath to Memory everywhere the perennial star of ambition and hope which has illumined my pathway ever.

Mr. Miller was the recipient of various gifts from his class. He received a framed photograph of himself which was presented by Russell Hamilton, class president, as the gift of Mr. and Mrs. James Carpenter. The picture will be placed in the new Sunday school room which the class has in the Methodist Church. The president, on behalf of the class, also presented Mr. Miller with a large thermos jug and expressing the idea that Mr. Miller could use the gift on his vacation. The unique thing about the gift however, was the fact that on the large, cup-shaped lid were engraved the initials of the members of the class, that as a remembrance with each drink from the cover he might recall those who had been in his class. A memorial window to Mr. Miller has been placed in the church building in appreciation of his services.

Mr. Miller will fill the pulpit of the First M. E. Church next Sunday morning during the absence of Dr. C. C. James, the pastor of the church. Dr. James left last night for Lebanon, Ill., where he will give a series of lectures to the McKendree College, and later joined by his family will visit relatives in Ohio. Dr. James and his family expect to be gone about a month.

Dr. James announced yesterday that the First M. E. Church new building will be dedicated on Sunday, September 20. Bishop Waldroff of Kansas City will be present and assist in the dedicatory services.

MERCHANTS ARE CHAMPS

FORD MACHINE BALKS WHEN RUNS ARE NEEDED.

H. BUHLER FANS 11

Tilson Makes Colorful Catch in Fifth To Stop Barmann Rally—Final Score 11 to 1 for Merchants.

In due respect to Ford mechanics that they may be able to patch up a Ford so that it will travel over all kinds of roads, the same mechanics experienced considerable difficulty yesterday in patching up a baseball machine that would run around the bases when "Heinie" Buhler was on the mound flipping the ball across the plate.

The game, which was played for the city championship and on a winner-take-all proposition, was not even close and in the seventh and eighth innings the Merchants' right handed batters were taking a left-handed slam at the ball so they would have time to regain their wind after tearing around the bases for six innings.

Despite the fact that as a ball game the contest was one-sided, the game was thoroughly enjoyed by the fans.

In the second inning "Big Boy" Bluel pasted a single into the left field pasture and on Buhler's double rounded third at such a fast rate of speed that he couldn't turn the corner. The result was that he fell over P. Buhler, Merchant side-line coach who was urging him to tear for home. After picking himself off the ground, Bluel started for home but needed a rest more than he did a score so he stayed on the third base for a time. P. Buhler retired to a safe distance from third to do his coaching.

The best exhibition of ball was shown in the fifth when Tilson nipped a Barmann rally by catching a long fly with one hand after a run. The catch brought a round of applause from the fans.

Buhler fanned eleven of the Barmann batters although his arm was "cold" and he did not put all of his stuff on the ball.

The big inning for the Maryville team was in the second when six runs were collected from six well delivered hits.

Hamburg, Villisca and Clarinda Fall Before Local Players Who Are In Fine Form Yesterday.

The members of the golf team of the Maryville Country Club easily swept all honors in yesterday's match at the local links, when the golf teams from Clarinda, Hamburg and Villisca were matched with the local amateurs. Clarinda was second in pars, bogies and medal score, but ranked well below the averages marked up by Lawrence, Miller, Vogt, Dale, Gillam and Richman for Maryville.

Hamburg was third and Villisca fourth in the ranking of the day's play in the Iowa-Missouri Golf Association tourney. Among the visiting golfers A. Harrison of Clarinda tallied the best score, tieing Vogt of Maryville for honors on the medal score, each one shooting an 87 for the eighteen holes. He also divided honors with Richman for number of bogies, each making twelve, while Richman was high in pars, his card for the afternoon showing eight.

This is the first match that has been played on the local course this year, the other match being postponed because of road conditions.

The scores of the teams yesterday:

Writ of Prohibition Is Served On County Judges Today—Petition for New Bridge Is Filed.

A petition was presented to the county court in session this morning requesting that the new channel of the Platte River on north side of Jefferson township, between Conception and Ravenwood, be bridged.

If granted, it will be necessary to use a steel span to bridge the new channel of the Platte at this place.

The petition was signed by George Fred Davis, by Hugh Strong; Henry Moore, W. W. Burch, J. D. Smith, J. F. Adwell, T. M. Rush, Denis Groton, J. O'Brien, C. E. O'Banion, E. E. Crawford, Jas. B. Robinson, R. C. Sherlock, John Graham, Ed Allen, Gret Comes, E. H. Stein.

The court granted the request to close several alleys in Elmo, at its meeting this morning.

The judges expected to go to points north of Barnard this afternoon as road commissioners to inspect some roads and bridges.

A writ of prohibition was formally served on the court this morning to prohibit the judges to take any action on the petition requesting that Bristle Ridge school district No. 118 be annexed by Conception Junction district No. 125.
